In August we enjoyed coffee and homemade cakes at Milntown. It was a relaxing afternoon.

M.E. Service

Regrettably, M.E is still not always diagnosed at an early, critical stage on the island and there is still no widespread service available to help those with M.E to manage this condition. We had been given assurances by the Hon. David Ashford MHK, Minister for Health and Social Care that this would be in place by April this year, but this has still not happened. ME Support is addressing this matter directly with the Minister and we will be contacting all our Members soon with details of how they can be involved to help campaign for the M.E service to be delivered.
